ICEIS 2005

Enterprise Information Systems Doctoral Consortium Scholarship Program

Awarded to FIU by the National Science Foundation

ICEIS Doctoral Consortium Scholarship

FIU has been chosen by The National Science Foundation to offer Scholarships to doctoral students pursuing degrees in the area of Enterprise Information Systems to attend a doctoral consortium in conjunction with the International Conference on Enterprise Information Systems (ICEIS 2005) to be held in Miami Beach, FL on May 24-28th 2005.

Award Amount:

The award will pay for airfare, hotel in a double room (shared with another awardee), conference registration, and meals. Estimated value of award is $975, but will depend on airfare. Miscellaneous expenses will be covered by the awardee.

Eligibility:

To be eligible to receive a scholarship, an applicant must satisfy the following criteria:
- Be enrolled in a PhD program at an accredited US University in a discipline related to enterprise information systems;
- Have started doctoral dissertation research work. Applicants described as being likely to complete their dissertations by the end of Fall 2005 will be given preference over students described as being unlikely to complete their dissertation.
- Be nominated by Faculty Advisor or Graduate Program Advisor.

Selection Criteria:

Selection will be based on Academic Merit and to ensure a broad range of participation in terms of discipline, research topics, and research approaches. Applicants judged based on their abstract submission to most likely make a contribution to enterprise information systems will have preference.

Deadline for Application:

To be fully considered applications must be received by March 15th.
